PRESIDENT'S NEW FLAG.

Gorgeous Ensign Prescribed by the Secretary of War. The president is to have a gorgeon new flag in addition to the regulablue ground bearing the official coat of arms of the United States which he flies when he goes aboard a naval ven sel, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune. The new ensign is an army device, designated as r headquarters flag, and is prescribed by the secretary of war in the following amendment to the regulations just is-

"The headquarters flag of the president shall be of scarlet silk, 6 feet 6 inches fly and 4 feet on the pike, which shall be 10 feet long, including ferrule and head. The head shall consist of a globe, three inches in diameter, surmounted by an American eagle, alert, four inches high. In each of the four corners shall be a five pointed whitestar. The points of these stars lie in the circumference of an imaginary circle of two and a half inches radius. The centers of these imaginary circles. which coincide with the centers of these stars, are nine inches from the short sides and seven inches from the long sides of the color. In the center of the color shall be a large fifth star. also of five points, which lie in the circumference of an imaginary circle of sixteen and a half inches radius. The center of this circle is the point of intersection of the diagonals of the color The re-entering angles of this large star lie in the circumference of an imaginary circle of eight inches radius. with the same center as before. Inside of the star thus outlined is a parallel star, separated from it by a band of white one and a half inches wide. This inner star forms a blue field, upon which is the official coat of arms of the United States as determined by the state department, the device being located by placing the middle point of the line dividing the chief from the paleways of the escutcheon upon the point of intersection of the diagonals of the color and thus coinciding with the center of the larger star. On the scarlet field around the larger star are other white stars, one for each state, equally scattered in the re-entering angles, and all included within the circumference of a circle of nineteen and a half inches radius, whose center is the center of the large star. The design, letters, figures and stars are to be embroidered in silk, the same on both sides of the color. The edges of the color are to be trimmed with knotted fringe of silver and gold three inches wide and one cord, having two tassels, 8 feet 6 inches long and made of red, white and blue silk intermixed."

Smithsonian Institution's Plan to Learn Night Bird's Habits.

If any person shoots or captures a night heron with an aluminium band around its right leg with the inscrip- gas. tion, "Smithsonian Institution," and a number anywhere between 1 and 800, he should communicate with Paul Bartsch, biologist of the Smithsonian, and tell him where the heroa was shot. when, how large it was and all about it, says a Washington special dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. The night ro. Lincoln, Chaves, Eddy and heron is a wanderer. It goes all over Roosevelt): the world.

There is little exact knowledge of its habits and life. Last year Mr. Bartsch discovered three big breeding places of the heron in the District of Columbia county of Socorro, Socorro. on the banks of the Potomac. He prepared and numbered 800 aluminium bands. A few days ago, with several assistants, he went to the breeding places in the night and put bands around the legs of 800 young herons velt, Roswell.

What the ornithologists want to find out about the heron is how long it lives, how far it wanders and where it lives in the winter time. Mr. Bartsch thinks he will know all about the bird within the next five years, and then he will write a pamphlet about them.

The United States is back of the ex periment. It furnished the aluminium Breechlonders.

Breechloading in artillery and small arms is popularly supposed to be an invention of the middle of last century. but such is by no means the case. In a Dublin gunsmith's shop at Cork Hill is on view a breeckloading rifle offered to the British war office at the close of the eighteenth century and rejected, as it was considered to need too much ammunition!

The Way It Goes. "I heard Kronnick remark that he never had such luck in his business as he's having now, but I didn't catch whether it was good luck or bad." "Oh, he meant bad luck, of course. If it were good luck he wouldn't speak of it as luck at all."-Philadelphia Press.
